

Virginia Student Placement Law Gets Death Blow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today dealt a death blow to Virginia's Pupil Placement Act.

The tribunal did so by refusing to review a decision in two school segregation cases in which the state's 1956 placement law was declared unconstitutional.

The decision, dealing with tests in Norfolk and Newport News, was given by U. S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk and was affirmed by the U. S. Circuit Court in Richmond.

The refusal to review the decision lets it stand unchanged. The Supreme Court's refusal was announced in a brief order which gave no reason and made no comment.

School officials of both Norfolk and Newport News, joined by the state's attorney general, had appealed.

They contended the action of the lower courts "makes even more difficult of solution the most difficult social problem presented to the people of this country in eight decades."

The appeal said Judge Hoffman acted "with undue impetuosity" and said the cases gave the Supreme Court an opportunity "to lead a large section of our country out of the chaos into which the 1945 decision against compulsory school segregation has plunged it."

The time has come for the Supreme Court to recognize and expound the practicalities of life in these areas and to establish a framework within which public education can continue," the appeal added.

Sagging Stock Market at 1955 Lows

NEW YORK (UP) — The stock market fell to new lows since early 1955 today.

The tape ran late twice in the morning dealings — once shortly after the opening, which was irregularly lower, and again at 11:17 a.m.

The decline led to smaller limits than recent ones with the worst losses in the railroad section where Chesapeake and Ohio lost 3 points. Du Pont fell nearly 2 points to a new low. Chrysler turned an early gain into a loss by falling nearly 2 points from its best. Other motors eased fractions.

Alcoa's eased by Bendix a heavy loser by more than 2 points. Kerr-McGee lost more than 4 at its low in the oil. National Lead was down 3 1/2 in the specialty. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem traded new lows in their department.

Among the more active issues were Bethlehem Steel, Benguet, Cribble Steel, Graham Paige, and General Motors.

The Dow Jones averages at noon c.d.t.: 30 Industrials 420.48, off 4.35; 20 rails 111.16, off 2.77; 15 utilities 63.99, off 0.56; 65 stocks 136.37, off 1.89.

Queen, Prince to Visit on Staten Island

By ARTHUR VRTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II of England steps down today onto a red carpet unfurled from train to car on Staten Island.

A special train brings the royal party here from Washington.

This is the first time Elizabeth has set foot in the New York. She bypassed the city in her only other visit to America in 1951.

The timetable for her 15-hour visit to the city, like her timetable earlier in Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, was one of exquisite exactness.

Stapleton, a community of about 24,000 on Staten Island, originally planned a gala welcome for Elizabeth. But, "somewhat puzzled" by the local officials called it off because timing and routing made it impossible to take the royal motorcade through the business district.

After a ferryboat ride across to Manhattan, Elizabeth will be ferried in a ticker-tape motorcade up lower Broadway to City Hall.

At City Hall, Elizabeth will be officially greeted by New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Queen Follows Orders on a Fishing Jaunt

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a politician might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Nothing New in Integration Situation

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Nine Negro students, two of whom were ill with influenza last week, prepared to attend their fifth week of integrated classes at Little Rock Central High School today.

Federal troops, consisting of paratroopers and federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen—protect the Negroes at the previously all-white 2,000-pupil high school.

Gov. Orval Faubus returned to his mansion here last night after a weekend in northwest Arkansas. An aide said he doubted if the governor would have anything new to say today about the racial crisis.

There is no solid indication yet of an end to the tug-of-war between Faubus and the federal government.

The White House has said that Faubus has given no unequivocal assurances he will carry out integration peacefully of federal troops are withdrawn. Faubus blocked integration at Central High for awhile by using National Guardsmen before they were removed from his control.

The Negro attorney who represented the nine Negro students in federal court predicted that the crisis will continue until the gubernatorial election in 1958 is over.

Wiley E. Branton of Pine Bluff also told a convention of the NAACP, at East St. Louis, Ill. "It is up to the Negro race to see that it is no longer used as the 'tool of politicians' of any party."

Resignation of Hope Man Accepted

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today accepted the resignation of O. A. Graves of Hope as a member of the Bar Rules Committee and appointed Jeff Davis of El Dorado as his successor.

The court also followed the suggestion of the Arkansas Bar Association and fixed the terms of the committee members, as follows:

A. L. Smith, Third Congressional District, Dec. 31, 1957.

John P. Wood, member at large, Dec. 31, 1958.

J. P. Duggel, First Congressional District, Dec. 31, 1959.

Howard Cookrell, Fifth Congressional District, Dec. 31, 1951.

BROOKTONDALE, N. Y. (UP) — Nobody lives on Easy Street anymore in this Tompkins County village.

Residents of what formerly was Easy Street today happily began changing their addresses to the new name, Brooktondale Road.

The town board formally changed the name after residents complained that living on Easy Street caused them to receive unnecessary ribbing.

Kansas Doctors Say Leggett Was Insane

By BRYCE MILLER

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A psychiatric report by the famous Menninger Foundation of Kansas said today that killer Emmett Earl Leggett was insane when he committed one of the most bizarre murders in Arkansas history.

"Emmett Earl Leggett is mentally ill and was so at the time of the commission of the crime for which he has been convicted," the report, signed by Dr. Herbert C. Modlin, said.

"His act was a product of his mental illness. His illness consists essentially of periodic severe disturbances of personality functioning of psychotic degree."

"At the time of the commission of the crime he did not know the nature and quality of his act, could not distinguish right from wrong and was unable to adhere to the right."

Leggett, twice snatched from the electric chair at almost the last minute, is scheduled for execution Friday for the strangulation slaying of 14-year-old Joe King of Jacksonville nearly two years ago. Leggett wanted to have a homosexual relation with the boy.

The Menninger report is expected to weigh heavily in a decision of Gov. Orval E. Faubus to send Leggett to the state hospital for youth rather than let the insane youth die in the electric chair.

Faubus meets with officials of the state and legal advisors tomorrow to set up the administrative procedures for the action. It was learned today.

The Menninger team of two psychiatrists and one psychologist came to Arkansas at the request of newsmen who believed Leggett to be insane despite the findings of the Arkansas state hospital that the husky youth was "without psychosis."

The Menninger team, made up of Dr. Modlin, Dr. Herbert Kleimner and Dr. Irwin Rosen, concluded that Leggett should have been found insane by the Arkansas hospital long before the crime was committed.

British Nuclear Planners to Be at Conference

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — The British government announced today Prime Minister Macmillan will take three top nuclear policy planners to his conference with President Eisenhower in Washington.

This tends to substantiate reports Macmillan will propose at the meeting a U. S.-British partnership in nuclear and rocket research.

The men leaving with Macmillan tomorrow are Sir Richard Powell, permanent secretary of the Defense Ministry; Sir Edwin Playdun, chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority; and Sir Patrick Dean, a deputy under-secretary at the Foreign Office who is charged with political aspects of Britain's atomic energy program.

Others in Macmillan's party are Sir William Hayter, former British ambassador to Moscow and now a general political director at the Foreign Office; Sir Norman Brook, secretary to the Cabinet; and F. A. Bishop and Philip de Zulueta, both private secretaries.

Macmillan took a final look at his Washington plans at a cabinet meeting today. He was keeping a close watch on developments in the Middle East—a subject he and President Eisenhower were expected to discuss at length.

Under Macmillan's partnership plan, the two Allies would coordinate their scientific effort through a joint planning directorate with headquarters in Washington.

Demos Blame Ike for Not Acting Sooner

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats today accused President Eisenhower of being "substantially responsible for the trouble at Little Rock."

A civil rights statement approved yesterday by 16 of the 24 members of the National Committee's advisory council said the President's responsibility stemmed from his failure "to take an early and firm position for observance of the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the United States."

One council member, Mrs. Benjamin B. Everett of North Carolina, dissented from the accusation, which had the approval of former resident Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, defeated 1952-56 candidate.

The civil rights statement was released through the Democratic National Committee. It was the council's first pronouncement on civil rights since the resident sent troops to Little Rock to enforce a federal court school integration order.

The Democrats also chided the resident for not having appointed the Civil Rights Commission provided for in the 1957 civil rights law and urged him to move "without further delay" to implement that law.

Six weeks have elapsed since the law became effective, the council statement said, but the commission has not been appointed, an assistant attorney general has not been named to direct enforcement.

"The President has made many other important interim appointments," the council said. "There is no good reason why he should await the next session of Congress before proceeding to organize the commission."

The appointments to the six-member commission are subject to confirmation by the Senate, which will not be in session until next January.

U. S. to Again Try Test Fire of Rocket

BY RED HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Technicians may try again today to test-fire the first stage engine of the Vanguard rocket which they hope ultimately will send an American satellite into space.

Such a firing apparently was put off twice last Friday. Official sources at the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said test activities would be resumed today.

The testing plan is to send aloft the rocket, using only the first-stage engine. The Vanguard rocket, at full power, is planned to have three stages, the last of which would carry the satellite into an orbit about 300 miles above the earth.

The Russian satellite, man's first venture into outer space, now is in its 18th day of circling around the globe. Moscow radio said last night Sputnik completed 235 circuits as of yesterday, and that it is on schedule. The broadcast said the baby moon's radio transmitter has continued to work smoothly.

At Cambridge, Mass., Dr. Richard E. McCroskey said scientists connected with the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory here have determined that as of four days ago Sputnik was circling the earth about once every 95.5 minutes. He said this compares with initial calculations of 90.4 minutes per round-trip.

Outcome Could Ease Tension in Mid-East

WASHINGTON (UP) — Turkey and Syria have accepted Saudi Arabian King Saud's offer to mediate their dispute, diplomatic quarters disclosed today.

By ANGELO NATALE

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Foreign Ministry denied today that Syria is about to take part in mediation talks with Turkey under the auspices of King Saud.

An official statement said Syria will carry through its complaint to the U. N. that it is threatened by Turkish troop concentrations on the border.

Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry, army chief of staff, left today for a visit to Saudi Arabia. But the Foreign Ministry said his trip had no connection with reports that Syria and Turkey had accepted a conference to discuss the Middle East crisis.

A Syrian spokesman said Bizry's trip is in response to an invitation which Saud extended during the King's visit to Syria last month.

Turkey neither confirmed nor denied the report of an impending mediation conference, broadcast last night by the Saudi Arabian radio in Mecca. There were rumors, however, that Premier Adnan Menderes had received a message from Saud.

The Saudi Arabian broadcast said official delegations from Syria and Turkey would arrive today or tomorrow in Damascus, Saudi Arabia.

King Saud returned home yesterday after a 10-day visit to Beirut, Lebanon.

Moscow continued repeating its charges that the United States is pushing Turkey to attack its southern neighbor, which has been under increasing Soviet influence for two months.

An editorial in Izvestia, the official Soviet government newspaper, implied strongly that Russia might use nuclear rocket weapons if Syria is attacked. Izvestia said Turkey has turned the Syrian border "into a hotbed of military provocations."

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, charged British Prime Minister Macmillan will try to work out a plan of aggression against the Arabs in his conferences in Washington this week.

Many Top Ranked Grid Teams Beaten

By ED CORRIGAN Of The Associated Press

Illinois jumps right from the frying pan into the fire this week and Coach Ray Elliot and his band of Illinois know right where they're heading.

They slipped out of the frying pan Saturday when they upset Minnesota 34-13.

"This Saturday, they hit the fire against Michigan State, the badly mangled giant of the Big Ten. The Spartans, No. 1 team in the country in last week's Associated Press poll, were rumbled by the Illinois 20-13 in the biggest upset of the season so far.

"Michigan State will be really out to get us now," Elliot said today. "And to make matters worse, it's their homecoming."

The Purdue defeat could cause Michigan State to lose a Rose Bowl bid. Ohio State and Iowa, the defending champion, still are undefeated in conference play.

On the other side of the Rose Bowl, the Pacific Coast Conference, things are just as misty. Washington State could have nearly wrapped it up Saturday by beating Oregon.

But Oregon won the game 14-13 when State quarterback Bobby Newman missed the extra point after the Cougars' second touchdown.

State already had licked California and Stanford, the other Rose Bowl eligibles. But State can still make it. Everything hinges on how Oregon does against California this week and Stanford Nov. 2.

Oklahoma, which won its 44th straight game Saturday, a 47-0 rout of Kansas, goes against Colorado this week.

In the Southwest Conference, there doesn't seem to be a team capable of blocking Texas A&M's surge to another title, although at the moment, the Aggies are tied with Texas and Rice for the lead.

The Aggies received an unexpected lift from Texas Saturday when the Longhorns, a weak sister in the top last year, upended Arkansas 17-0. The Aggies had no easy pickings, either, escaping with a 7-0 decision over Texas Christian.

The tough Atlantic Coast Conference race could be decided this week when Duke and North Carolina meet.

Long Beach, Calif., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Pope and Bisbee, Ariz., with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nelson.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson returned Wednesday from Miami, Fla., where he attended the Presbyterian Men's Convention.

Miss Louise Martin has resigned her position at the Welfare Department and left Wednesday for Shreveport, La. where she has accepted a position with the United Gas Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eppler were Friday visitors in Arkadelphia.

Judge Refuses to Lift Ban Against Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts refused to lift his order restraining James R. Hoffa from taking over as president of the Teamsters Union.

Letts then went ahead with a hearing on pleas to convert the restraining order into a preliminary injunction against Hoffa and to put the 1 1/2-million member Teamsters Union under court receivers.

Plaintiffs in the case are a group of rank-and-file New York Teamsters members. They claim the recent Teamsters convention which elected Hoffa to succeed Dave Beck was illegal.

Letts quickly denied four motions argued by Teamsters' Atty. Martin O'Donoghue. The motions would have dismissed the existing restraining order and put the case down for trial on its merits.

O'Donoghue said Letts had acted improperly in granting the restraining order last week after a closed hearing in the court's chambers without notice to the union and without giving union attorneys a chance to be present.

O'Donoghue said this violated one of the canons of the American Bar Assn., limiting issuance of restraining orders without "posting counsel being present only to the most urgent cases dictated by dire necessity."

The plaintiff rank-and-file group has charged that Hoffa—accused of corruption in Senate Rackets Committee hearings—rigged his own election at the recent Teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate committee contends more than half the convention delegates were illegally chosen. He said one of the delegates who participated in the convention actual-

Todd Party Just a Lot of Ballyhoo

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) Let's try to put a little perspective on an interesting night of television. The night was last Thursday when entertainment was pitted against ballyhoo.

Entertainment was represented by 90 minutes of the first show of the TV season (thus far, a superb production of "The Green Pastures" on NBC-TV. Ballyhoo was represented at the same time on CBS-TV when a phenomenal gentleman named Mike Todd offered a 90-minute commercial of a movie and himself.

Seldom has there been so much talk about a TV show—both before and after—as encompassed Todd's Madison Square Garden shindig for 16,000 to celebrate the first anniversary of his film "Around the World in 80 Days."

It's a fine movie and it was nice of Todd to throw the party for a few intimate friends. But why was it televised? The answer is simple: Everybody knew that a large audience would watch it—and a large audience did.

In the light of the Monday after, the people I've heard still talking about Thursday night on television fall into these categories:

1. Those who watched and enjoyed "The Green Pastures."
2. Those who stated watching the Todd party and switched to "The Green Pastures."
3. Those who stayed with the Todd party with a mixture of grin, determination and a slightly horrified fascination at the power of ballyhoo.

I didn't watch the Todd party; I went to it. No kidding. I viewed the dress rehearsal, a complete run-through of "The Green Pastures," and then on to the Garden.

I dislike large crowds, but too late, trapped in the mob, I realized I'd fallen a victim of ballyhoo.

Trusted agents who viewed the party on TV and gave me a complete run-down of it are the only means I have of knowing what happened. There was a big crowd, a lot of noise and razzle-dazzle at the Garden. That's all.

The Madison Square Garden televised proceedings on Thursday evening were a harmless bit of publicity fluff of no entertainment stature. "The Green Pastures" was an entertaining and artful attainment, the best of the season, that one should not have missed.

The first life insurance company in the United States was established in Philadelphia in 1759. It was called "The Corporation for Relief of Poor and Distressed Presbyterian Ministers and Children of Presbyterian Ministers."

DOROTHY DIX

Car Trouble Cause of Domestic Feud

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several years ago when we decided we wanted a car, I left my two children with relatives every day while I went to work until we had enough money to buy one. Now we have a problem concerning this car that makes me wish I had never helped my husband buy it. We've added two more youngsters to the family, and have moved into the country, half a mile to the nearest bus stop.

My husband's work takes him away from home two or three days at a time. He drives the car to his office, leaves it there while he's out of town and picks it up on his return. In other words, the car stands idle for two or three days while he's away. I could drive him to the home office, or a co-worker would pick him up. Yet he absolutely refuses to let me have the use of the car. I must shop, take the kids to the doctor or dentist and visit on foot or by bus. Aside from this quirk, my husband is a wonderful guy and we get along beautifully.

SANDRA
Dear Sandra: You could threaten to go back to work to earn money for your car — this time; you might save all these expeditions until your husband comes home then make him do them, you could try letting a few important things go because you lacked transportation.

You could do all these things — but I doubt if any of them would work. When an otherwise fair-minded man gets a stubborn streak about something, he's hard to bud. Could you possibly manage to get yourself a used car or station wagon that would be exclusively yours? You could make it earn its own keep by taking on a job such as representative for cosmetics, brushes, girdles or any one of the many products sold directly to the lady of the house. Try to swing it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Although I'm

strips, fruit cobbler, milk, Friday
Salmon croquettes, scalloped potatoes, green beans, biscuit, chocolate cake and milk.

19 and drive my own car, my parents won't let me go out with boys. I can only go with girls, and even then must be home at 11 p.m. I feel my folks are unreasonable.

MYRTLE
Dear Myrtle: Your folks not only are unreasonable, but unrealistic and a bit silly. Surely a girl who can drive and own a car can handle men friends. The male of the species is scarcely more dangerous than a motor. Apparently you have achieved economic independence also. If all this doesn't prove you a capable and trustworthy girl your parents must be pretty dense. It's time for you to write a declaration of independence.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We love our daughter-in-law but she has us guessing. This is our problem, which is hurting my husband and me very much. We have my son and his wife in to dinner twice a week, but they never invite us to their home.

P. N.
Dear P. N.: As long as your son and his wife come to visit you, and are pleasant, don't complain. There could be many reasons why she doesn't invite you to her home. Perhaps she doesn't want you to know that she's a poor cook and housekeeper. Perhaps she doesn't know how to entertain or is just too lazy to have guests. Just be thankful you see your boy, and get along with his wife. The rest can wait.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Although Jim gave me an engagement ring when he was home on leave, he hasn't written to me in three months. We promised faithfully to write to each other once a week, but he's let me down. Do you think his mother could have anything to do with it? I understand she flipped when she heard about the engagement. Or do you think he's found someone else? I'm 16 and Jim is 18.

WINNIE
Dear Winnie: Write Jim once more and tell him you are no longer wearing his ring, and will return it as soon as you see him. This engagement is nothing but a farce and the sooner you end it the better. Practically any flower would have slipped over it. How

Two Arkansans Die in W. Virginia

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va., (AP) — Two Arkansans men died near here yesterday when their car plunged over a hill on State Highway 2.

State police identified the victims as Billy Bert Bowlin, 25, of Rison, Ark., and Carson Albert Berry, 36, of Hampton Ark.

Officers said the car went about 50 feet through the air, struck a rock and then bounced another 70 feet across a ravine, hitting the bank on the other side.

Berry's survivors include his widow and a small son and daughter.

Bowlin and Berry formed together at nearby Parkersburg, police said, and were employed as sheet metal workers on the Kaiser Aluminum Plant construction project.

Upsets Also Mark Play in Pro Leagues

By EARL WRIGHT United Press Sports Writer

Brilliant Sunday performances by Bobby Layne, Howard Cassady, Sunny Jurgensen, Y. A. Tittle, and Charley Conerly produced first-place ties in both divisions of the National Football League.

The Lions set up a three-way tie for first in the Western Division by rallying from a 27-3 deficit to edge the Baltimore Colts at Detroit, 31-27. Layne climaxed Detroit's 29-point second-half spree with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Cassady with only 50 seconds to play.

Taking advantage of Baltimore's first defeat, the San Francisco Forty-Niners tied the Colts and Lions for the Western lead as Tittle fired two touchdown passes and scored himself in a 24-14 victory over the Green Bay Packers. The three leaders have 3-1 records.

Jurgensen, a rookie quarterback from Duke, replaced the injured Bobby Thomason and helped the Philadelphia Eagles pull the day's biggest upset. He threw a touchdown pass and plunged for another as Philadelphia downed the Cleveland Browns, the only other previously unbeaten club, 17-7. The Eagles had lost 14 straight games, including exhibitions, and took a 24-7 whipping at Cleveland last week.

Conerly threw two touchdown passes to Bob Schnelker as the New York Giants, defending league champions, shut out the Pittsburgh Steelers, 35-0. The Giants playing like titleholders for the first time this season, boosted their record to 3-1 and tied Cleveland for the Eastern lead.

Individual stars also sparked in the other two games. Willie Gailmore's four touchdowns helped the Chicago Bears — defending Western Division champions — score their first 1957 victory, a 34-24 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams. Lamar Mottaz threw three touchdowns and scored on a 4-play drive to lead the Chicago Cardinals to a 44-14 victory over the Washington Redskins.

John Unitas threw two touchdowns passes to Jim Muschler.

Texas' Upset of Arkansas SWC Highlight

By The Associated Press

Baylor makes the supreme effort against high-rising Texas A&M and Texas clashes with Rice in a game that grew to vast importance in a day and night as headliners of the Southwest Conference football race this week.

Before the season started they said Baylor's battle with A&M would be the one that actually decided the championship. Then the Golden Bears were favorites to upset the Aggies from the throne.

But Baylor took a defeat from Arkansas and now the game with A&M will be mostly for survival.

Texas gave the league a shock Saturday when it whipped Arkansas, the outfit that had been put and two to Lenny Moore to give Baltimore a 27-3 lead in the third quarter. Tobin Tate then raised the hopes of 55,764 Detroit rosters with a 14-yard scoring pass to Steve Junker.

Cassady, enjoying the biggest day of his two-year pro career, caught a 20-yard touchdown pass from Layne to open the fourth period. Detroit scored twice in the last 30 seconds. Cassady caught a 25-yarder from Layne to set up John Henry Johnson's one-yard plunge and caught the game winner after Yale Larry recovered Moore's fumble on the Colt 29.

in Baylor's place as the chief challenger for the title. The Longhorns licked Arkansas 17-0 in an afternoon game. That night Rice outscored southern Methodist 27-21 to move into a tie for the conference lead with Texas and Texas A&M.

So the game at Austin Saturday night between Rice and Texas has become more important than the Baylor-Texas A&M struggle.

The Aggies are the only undefeated, untied team left in the league but they were far from invincible Saturday as they went through their fifteenth game without defeat. A&M beat Texas Christian 7-0 yet the fans went away from the park thinking TCU should have been on the big end of the score. The Horned Frogs did everything but win.

It left the impression that the Aggies might be had whereas before they were considered virtually untouchable.

Baylor, a crippled up outfit, was lucky it wasn't playing a conference game. It beat Texas Tech 13-12 without using some of its ailing regulars and will probably be in top shape for the bitter clash with the Aggies at College Station Saturday.

Two conference teams return to the interconference wars. Arkansas meets powerful Mississippi at Memphis with small prospect of a victory. Texas Christian plays Marquette at Milwaukee and will be easy favorites to trim the winless Hilltoppers.

These are two of the last four interconference games on the schedule. The conference has a record of 12 victories, 5 defeats and 2 ties in interconference play but needs a triumph over a top-rated team to make it impressive.

Tigers Fumble Away Game to Texarkana

The Verger Tigers fumbled away whatever chance they had Friday night and Texarkana took an easy 28 to 7 victory.

Hope didn't wait at all, fumbling on their own 30 after the kickoff. Texarkana took the ball across and kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Again the Tigers received and again fumbled it to Texarkana on the Hope 20. The Lions took advantage and made it 13 to 0. In the second period the Tigers again fumbled the ball to the Lions on the Hope 40. The Texarkanians took it right across and the half-time score was 20-0.

Texarkana returned the favor in the third period as the Tigers recovered a fumble. McFadden took it close to the goal line on a couple of long runs and Wilson went over. Hope made the extra point and the score was 20 to 7. The Washington Lions made another tally in the final period and that was all the scoring.

Verger rolled up 389 yards from scrimmage even in losing. They completed three of five passes for 50 yards. The Lions gained 489 yards and made seven of nine passes good.

Outstanding for Hope were Wilson, Edwards, the McFadden boys, Deloney, Scott, Tyus, Reed, Brandon, Gamble, Prater, Holyfield and Shaw.

Porks Couldn't Come Back at Right Time

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks whipped Baylor because they made few mistakes and were effective at critical moments and under pressure. It was just the reverse in the Texas game.

"I don't know whether we can come back or not," Coach Jack Mitchell said in speaking of the Porks' 17-0 licking and the team's chances against Mississippi next Saturday. "Only time will tell. It's questionable."

Mitchell mentioned the touchdown pass early in the second quarter as one of those key moments.

"Our offense moved well enough to score three touchdowns," the Porks' coach said after the field goal we were still confident that we could overcome that 3-0 lead. The play that hurt us most was that touchdown pass. We had been containing them pretty well but after that we were constantly playing catch-up football."

The pass, by a halfback, apparently caught the Hogs by surprise. Don Christian rushed over from his safety position to try to cover George Blanch, the receiver, in the left corner of the end zone but was still on the wrong side of Alvis. Mitchell remarked that a receiver in that position was not Christian's responsibility.

CHAPTER XIII

At the bottom of the stairs, Ferris, who had been left by Kains to guard the horses, heard the creak of woodwork. The swarthy, solid man turned and ground out: "Hold on!"

He had hairy jowls which hadn't seen a razor for several days, and a crooked nose that once had been broken. Menace was sharp in the man, and he had a temper riled by Kains' open distrust. His gun came half-way up and froze, for Dave's pistol barrel already was protruding deep in his belly. Gusty surprise ran from Ferris and he let his gun hand relax.

"Who are you?" he demanded. Dave told his name and took Ferris' pistol.

"Kains more than half figures you're dead," Ferris murmured. "He ain't gonna like this."

Dave shoved his shoulder against Ferris, driving him to the log wall. "What brought Kains to town?"

Ferris gave a disgruntled reply. "Butchered steers. We figure Quinn serves stolen beef to his customers."

Dave pushed Ferris along the walk until they stood against the saloon's window. With the exception of Lockridge and Prole the men in the barroom had remained where they stood when Kains entered. They were angry but they were also cowed, for Block S was too powerful to resist.

Presently the Block S riders drifted from the kitchen. They walked the length of the saloon toward Kains. Both were dark faced and had the marks of toughness about them. Kains' head lifted the barest degree as they made their report. They had found no beef that could be proved Sharadin's. Kains looked back to Raoul Quinn and it soon could kill the saloonman would have been dead.

"Any time we find Block S brands in your kitchen we'll pull this joint apart over your head." There was the coolest defiance in Quinn's manner. "I'll tell you something. I've been closing my eyes to a lot of rough stuff because I'm an easy-going man. But if I want Sharadin beef, I won't go about it a piker's way."

The cords of Kains face twitched with rage. He leaped across to the counter, his arm thrusting forward to strike Quinn beneath the jaw. The blow jarred Quinn backwards. The top of his head struck the bottles shelved on his back-bar and sent them toppling Quinn's expression ran suddenly empty. He fell behind his counter.

"Hold on, Kains! That's no way to treat an honest man," Lockridge challenged.

Kains turned his anger onto the doctor. He grasped Lockridge by the shirtfront, threateningly. "You want to buy your own headache?"

Lockridge slapped Kains across the face with his open palm. Stunned by surprise Kains simply glowered at him. Lockridge said calmly, "No, Kains. I don't want any part of Wolf Creek's ills. I'm here to help men get well. On the other hand, don't give me your insolence. Never can tell when you might want me to cut a piece of lead out of you."

"We'll worry about that when it happens," Kains growled. Some dark emotion that dogged the doctor mentally was annoying him now and his face shaded. "Without half trying a doctor can make a messy job of stitching," he murmured.

Kains turned away with a low threat. His remorseless stare ran from man to man in the saloon as though searching for some show of revolt that would signal the break he wanted. But there was none—only the expressions that thinly masked their hostility. His men dropped behind him as they moved to the entrance. Dave was on the point of returning Ferris' pistol, then remembering the way Ferris had tried to lift it against him, he shoved the gun into his own waistband.

"I'll be riding out to Block S. Tell Kains," he said.

He stepped back to the stairway half expecting Ferris would cause trouble. Then he decided the unshaven man was ashamed to tell Kains of the way he had been bested. He probably would never mention the incident.

A sense of anticipation lifted in Dave as he walked toward Sherry's room.

She was standing beside a simple washstand, a water pitcher on the floor at her feet. She spoke with her voice level. "Let me ask you something, Dave. Did you come back to the Padres for revenge?"

He shook his head. "Not that way. I'm not hunting a man with

New Musical Planned by Famous Team

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The tall mature man in the crew cut was watching the filming of a "south Pacific" scene more intently than the usual visitor. And no wonder—it was Oscar Hammerstein II.

The scene was a dramatic one in which Emile Meyer (Roscoe Ates) turns down a proposal to spy on the Japanese with Lt. Joe Cable (John Kerr). Between takes of the long scene, director Josh Logan came over to confer with Hammerstein.

Hammerstein wrote the play with Logan and penned the lyrics to accompany Richard Rodgers' songs. He naturally has a proprietary interest in the movie.

The scene I watched was remarkably faithful to the original, which I had recently seen on the stage with Mary Martin in her original role. "Yes, we haven't changed the story much, except to fit it into the cinematic medium. There are some obvious things which, you a gun."

"But you are out for revenge. What else would bring you here?" She smiled tiredly. "You're not the kind would drive a man from every valley — shoot him down just because he was working for a living."

"Not for making a living. For stealing grass—yes."

"Grass!" She made an impatient gesture with her hand. "What is grass? Outside there's a million acres!"

Now she struck fire from him. "You've got this all wrong. Block S has paid for what it has. Paid in sweat and blood and misery. But Bluet Sharadin will let these others alone — if they stay off his grass with their plows."

can do with movies but not on the stage," Hammerstein said. "It's pretty much the same thing we have done with the other three films that have been made from our musicals. When the studies put out a lot of money for a property, they generally use it."

Of the three RH musicals filmed so far, Hammerstein said he thought "Oklahoma!" and

"The King and I" were well done. He had some reservations about "Carousel."

What about the other three RH musicals?

"There have been no offers that I know of for them," he said. "I have an idea that some day I may re-work 'Allegro.' I don't expect to do anything more with 'Me and Juliet' and 'Pipe Dream' Why? I hate them."

There is happy news in the fact that the famed team is getting busy on a new musical. It will be based on a book about San Francisco's Chinatown by C. Y. Lee, "The Flower Drum Song." Hammerstein said he will write the script with Joseph Fields. He added that Rodgers is recovered enough from his recent illness to
